DRINKS OUNCE OF CARBOLIC ACID

Charles Shields, Age 39, Farmer of Mays, Takes His Life Early This Morning.

THOUGHT TO BE DESPONDENT

Asks 7-Year-Old Girl to Bring Cup of Water in Which he Took Poison.

Despondent and believed to be suffering with a mental depression due to excessive drinking for the last two or three days, Charles Shields, age thirty-nine years, a farmer of Mays, took an ounce of carbolic acid this morning about seven o'clock before he had arisen from bed, and died in the greatest agony at seven-fifty o'clock.

It is said that Shields had been drinking to excess for three days at least but that he had showed no signs of despondency. He was in high spirits when he went to bed last night and did not seem to be depressed when he awakened this morning. His wife and family was down stairs preparing breakfast when his little seven-year-old daughter discovered him in his bed.

One little daughter remained behind this morning when the remainder of the family, with the exception of the father, went down stairs. The father, evidently as a pretext to get rid of the daughter, asked the girl who remained behind to bring him a drink. She took him a cup of water and went back down stairs.

In a few minutes the little seven-year-old girl, expecting to lie down with her father until breakfast was ready, went up to his room and observed that he acted strangely. She, of course, did not realize what was the matter with her father, but she did notice that her father paid no attention to her, but only muttered sounds that were scarcely audible.

The little girl rushed back to her mother and told her something was the matter with her father. Mrs. Shields ran upstairs and realized as soon as she entered the room what had happened as she detected the odor of carbolic acid. Not stopping to examine her husband, she rushed to the front porch and began to scream, one shrill cry after another.

Neighbors were attracted to her and immediately Dr. W. A. Lord, who lives only a half block from the Shields home, was called. All efforts to revive Shields were useless and he died, after suffering excruciating pain, at ten minutes to eight.

Friends began a search about the room for traces of the poisoning he had taken. They found the cup in which the little daughter had taken her father a drink, lying in the bed near the suicide's left hip. The vessel smelled strongly of carbolic acid.

The search was continued all over the room. It was some time before

ALLEGES CRUEL TREATMENT

Mrs. Harvey Halterman Files Suit For Divorce.

Mrs. Elzina Halterman filed suit for divorce yesterday afternoon from Harvey Halterman. Mrs. Halterman asks for one hundred dollars alimony and the custody of their son, Carl, who is seven years old. They were married April 28, 1898, and separated February 20. In the complaint Mrs. Halterman alleges cruel and inhuman treatment. She states that he struck her and has several times threatened to kill her.

the suicide's coat was found hanging in a secluded part of the room. In one of the pockets was found a two-ounce bottle, containing one ounce of carbolic acid. From that it was gleamed he took an ounce of the poison.

Dr. A. G. Shauck of Arlington, county coroner, was called at once, and late this afternoon had not returned from Mays.

Shields rented a farm and tended it although he lived in Mays with his family. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shields of Mays and had lived there all of his life. He married several years ago Nellie Abernathy, daughter of Berry Abernathy of this city. To them four children were born and all survive, besides the widow.

The funeral services will be held in the Mays Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon at one o'clock. Interment will take place in the Shiloh cemetery.

ED CARTER WINS FROM SCOTT CONDE

Wins First Pool Game of Semi-Finals by the Score of 100 to 85.

FOURTEEN IS HIGH RUN MARK

Ed Carter defeated Scott Conde, 100 to 85, last night in the first game of the semi-finals in the pool tournament at the Demmer pool room. The game was well played and both contestants were in good form. The contest was very close up until the seventy mark was reached, then Carter gradually drew away and won by a margin of fifteen balls. The high run of fourteen was credited to Carter. He also made several runs of ten and twelve. Conde deserves the credit of putting up a good game and his showings surprised even his most ardent supporters.

The second game of the semi-finals will be played tonight between Bert Osborne and Frank Wooster.

TWO LECTURERS OF NOTE ARE COMING

Thomas Brooks Fletcher And Adrian Newens to Speak to Men of Rushville.

WILL BE HERE MARCH 17 AND 24

At least two more treats are in store for the men of Rushville this winter and spring. The Men's Big Meeting program committee has retained two men of national prominence on the Lyceum stage. Thomas Brooks Fletcher, a lecturer with few equals in America today, and Adrian Newens, a humorist who appears before the best chautauquas in the United States, are the two who have been engaged.

T. B. Fletcher will lecture on "The Tragedy of the Unprepared," Sunday March 17, and Mr. Newens will talk of "A Message From Mars" on the following Sunday, March 24. Both these men are employed by the Redpath bureau and are high priced talent. There is every reason to believe the largest crowd of the year will be out for these.

The program committee had a contract with Ex-Gov. R. B. Glenn of North Carolina, but he cancelled. The committee hopes to have one more meeting before the Brooks lecture.

ESTIMATE FIRE LOSS AT $2500

Flames Destroy Barn of W. E. Wallace and Contents Belonging to BeeHive Store.

A TEAM OF HORSES PERISH

Water Pressure Very Low Hindering Work of Firemen—Small Damage to Keating Property.

The barn belonging to W. E. Wallace in North Perkins street and the contents, including two horses and a large huskster wagon, the property of the Bee Hive department store was destroyed by fire this morning. Considerable damage was done to the barn of James Keating, adjoining the Wallace property. The total loss is given at $2500.

The fire was discovered about ten-thirty o'clock and when the fire department arrived the Wallace barn was a solid mass of flames. It is the opinion of the firemen that the barn had been burning a long time before discovered. The inside of the barn was all afire and had gained such headway that fighting the flames was useless. None of the contents was saved and the property is a total loss. The horses perished before any effort could be made to save them. Mr. Wallace estimates his loss as between $800 and $1000 with about $500 insurance.

H. G. Hackman of the Bee Hive sustained the heaviest loss. The two horses, the wagon and contents and other valuables destroyed make Mr. Hackman's loss about $1200. The insurance will not cover the entire amount. The huckster wagon was loaded with groceries and this alone is placed at $500. Among other things Mr. Hackman lost a new set of double harness and a large amount of feed.

The Keating barn is directly across the alley and the west wind carried the flames to it. A horse and cow belonging to Mr. Keating were saved. The firemen made special efforts to save this barn but because of the intense heat from the Wallace barn and the poor water pressure, the upper half was destroyed. The water pressure greatly handicapped the firemen and for a time it seemed as though the Keating property was doomed.

The pressure was so weak they could not get within fighting distance until the flames from the other barn subsided. The loss to the Keating barn is estimated at about $250.

The origin of the fire is unknown. No one is known to have entered the barn since early in the morning. The doors were securely locked and the blaze evidently started on the inside. The Bee Hive wagon usually starts out in the morning, but today owing to the bad condition of the roads, did not make the trip.

TO HOLD COURT SATURDAY

Railroad Commission Representative Will Hear Evidence at Gings.

A representative of the State railroad commission will conduct court at Gings Saturday morning, beginning at eight-forty o'clock. Residents of Gings and vicinity have petitioned the commission to compel the Pennsylvania railroad to erect a station at Gings and keep an agent there regularly. It is said the people have made that request of the company, but that it has never been granted. Gings people back of the movement urge a large attendance at the court Saturday.

MAIL SERVICE IS BADLY CRIPPLED

No C. H. & D. Trains Arrive Here From the West Until Late This Afternoon.

OTHER TRAINS ARE LATE, TOO

Rising Temperature is Promised by Weather Bureau—Banks and Saloons Closed.

Rushville was snowbound worse today than yesterday. The country roads were broken yesterday but last night they were filled with drifted snow again by the high wind. The interurban service was established again today but traffic on the steam lines into Rushville was impaired as badly, and in some instances worse, than it was yesterday. Telephone service all over the county was very unsatisfactory.

Continued fair weather is predicted by the weather bureau for tonight and Friday, accompanied by a rise in temperature. With the terrible gusts of wind which scattered the snow in blinding clouds last night, came a drop in temperature. At 7 o'clock this morning the mercury registered 14 degrees above zero. It began rising rapidly and unusual discomfort from the cold was not experienced.

The wind today, however, was abated very little and, although the sun shone brightly from an azure blue sky, the day was disagreeable. There were few people in the city. The banks and saloons were closed all day, on account of a legal holiday and the postoffice closed at 10 o'clock. The city carriers were to make one delivery.

The rural mail carriers did not have to go over their routes today, fortunately. Yesterday they experienced much difficulty in traveling over the country roads which were almost impassable.

The mail service into Rushville today was worse crippled than it has ever been in the recent history of the city. No mail from Indianapolis or points beyond was received until late this afternoon. No eastbound C. H. & D. train had passed through Rushville yet at 2:30 o'clock. Trouble was experienced by Chicago trains the other side of Indianapolis. Westbound trains were late also. Other mail trains into Rushville were delayed.

A wholesale postponement of farm sales is noted. A number of farm auctions had been advertised for this week and next and they are all being postponed until the weather is more agreeable.

COUNTRY HOME IN DANGER

Soot in Chimney Catches Fire at Martin Good's House.

Fire threatened the home of Martin Good, who lives west of Manila Tuesday, when the soot in the chimney leading from the kitchen caught on fire, and it was only by the timely arrival of help from Rays Crossing and their quick work that the home was saved, for there was no one at home but Mr. Good's daughter, Ethel, who sent the alarm to the men at the little town. The soot in the chimney caught on fire and it heated the chimney to such an extent that the roof of the house was set on fire, and it had not gained any headway when the volunteer fire brigade reached the scene. By their quick work the fire was soon extinguished. The damage was slight and was fully covered by insurance.

BLUE RIDGE TAKES GAME

Wins From Waldron Championship Five in Hard Fought Contest.

In a rough and hard fought game of basket ball Tuesday night at Blue Ridge, the Waldron Cubs went down in defeat before the mighty team representing the metropolis of Liberty township, by a score of 28 to 37. The game was a hard one to lose for Waldron as they had begun to think they had a championship team as they have recently taken everything that has come their way into camp since they organized several weeks ago. Barlow, of the Waldron team, was the main point getter for his team, shooting six field goals while Wagoner did the act for Blue Ridge by capping seven field goals.

MARRIED AT ST. JOE LAST SEPTEMBER

Fanny E. Lightner of Arlington and Waldo Draper of Carthage Keep Elopement Secret.

TELL FRIENDS OF WEDDING

Miss Fanny E. Lightner of Arlington and Waldo Draper of Carthage have just announced to their friends that they were secretly married in St. Joe, Mich., September 10, 1911. They managed to keep their wedding a secret between themselves for these many months and no one has ever suspected that they eloped to the Michigan City and were wedded. They were married by the Rev. C. E. Hoag, pastor of the Methodist church of St. Joe. After March 1st Mr. and Mrs. Draper will go to housekeeping on the Edward Phillips farm southeast of Morristown. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Thomas Rucker of Arlington and has many friends in that place. Mr. Draper is well and favorably known all over the central and northern part of the county.

ASKS INJUNCTION AND $500 DAMAGES

Mrs. Maude L. Wolcott Files Suit Against Mrs. Harriet Plough and Will M. Bliss.

SAY THEY BROKE AGREEMENT

Mrs. Maude L. Wolcott, through her attorney, John Kiplinger, filed suit this afternoon against Harriet Plough and Will M. Bliss, asking for an injunction and $500 damages. The complaint sets forth that the defendants on and prior to Feb. 1, 1911, were engaged in the millinery business here under the business name of Mrs. Harriet Plough, and that they had an established trade and valuable stock. Mrs. Wolcott states that as an inducement to her to purchase the business the defendants represented that they intended to retire and would not for a period of five years engage in the same business in this city. On this condition Mrs. Wolcott says she paid defendants $700 for the store.

It is alleged that the defendants disregarded their agreement and on Feb. 12 opened a store here to engage in the millinery business. It is stated in the complaint that by starting a store they are injuring the plaintiff's trade and will continue to do so unless restrained by the court. For this violation of contract an injunction is asked and $500 damages.

SAMPLES TO BE FINISHED SOON

Photographs of Bedroom Suits Made by Rushville Furniture Co. to be Taken.

WILL BE IN SALESMEN'S HANDS

By First of Next Month When Orders Will be Solicited—Prospects For Building.

Not many days will elapse before photographs of the samples of furniture made by the Rushville Furniture Company will be taken and will be placed in the hands of salesmen who will begin to take orders. As soon as orders begin to come in, the factory will be running along in fine shape and will increase the number of workers as the demand for their furniture increases.

It is not likely that their sample photographs will be in the hands of salesmen before the first of next month. It is thought possible that the new concern will be able to make a bid for some of the spring business.

The Rushville Furniture Company will make bedroom furniture only. They will have about ten designs to place on the market. Two samples of each design are being made so that the company will have a small stock on hand when the goods are placed on the market. The samples have to be completed when photographed, as the photograph would not show the exterior finishes.

The work of perfecting the samples has been delayed somewhat by the fact that the company did not employ a special designer to do the work. Charles Baker and Warder Wyatt of the company have had charge of that. They desired to do their own designing, as they had some special ideas in designing which they wished to execute.

As soon as the factory is running steadily and has a regular output, more men will have to be imported. It will mean that more houses will undoubtedly have to be built, as empty houses in Rushville are very scarce just now.

Four or five men now employed by the Rushville Furniture Company were brought here from other cities and the remainder working at the new factory are Rushville men. The employees will be increased as the business demands until a capacity business has been reached.

The influx of working men in Rushville in the spring and summer will make a demand for houses. The result is that several people are planning to erect houses to rent, just as soon as spring opens and the weather is fit for men to work out of doors. It is said several new houses in the Stewart & Tompkins addition will spring up in a few months.

The building trades will be over-flowed this spring, according to all predictions. Besides the number of houses which will be built it is said a number will be overhauled and repaired. Although Rushville's sidewalks are much above the average for cities of this size, it is understood a number of petitioners for cement walks and curbing will be presented to the city council in the early spring.

WANTS $3000 DAMAGES.

Newcastle Courier: Ethel Ennis, a Lewisville music teacher, has brought suit for $3000 for personal injuries against the T. H. I & W. In her complaint she states that on June 29, 1910, a horse which she was driving, became frightened at a traction car on South Fourteenth street in this city and threw her out of the buggy. Miss Ennis fell against a telephone pole and was badly injured.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

DINNERS COOKED IN ONE BAG.

By M. Soyer, Chef of the Brooks' Club, London.

In my last article I gave menus for dinners for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday that could be cooked in one bag, the dessert, of course, excepted. Here I give menus that can be so cooked for the other days of the week.

Wednesday.

Let the dinner be roast and stuffed breast of mutton.

Take a lean breast of mutton four pounds weight, getting the butcher to bone it for you. Make a stuffing with two ounces of stale bread crumbs, a dust of salt and pepper, a finely chopped onion, and a heaped dessert-spoonful of minced parsley, or, if pressed for time, a little finely powdered mixed sweet herbs. Add a good lump of dripping or cut a little fat from the thick part of the breast, chop this finely, and use instead of dripping. Bind if possible with an egg, or, failing this, use a little cold milk. Lay this mixture on the inside of the meat. Roll as tightly as possible, tie into place with clean tape or string. Grease the bag well. Put in one pound of peeled and halved potatoes, choosing these all as nearly of a size as possible. Then put in the meat. Add the other and put in the rest of the potatoes. Put in bag in a very hot oven. Lower the gas half way (or push in the dampers), and cook for an hour and a quarter or an hour and a half, according as the meat is liked well, over or underdone. Turn out, serve with a little red currant jam, if jelly is not possible.

Baked bread pudding will be found very acceptable after this.

To make it, soak half a pound or more of stale bread over night in cold water. Then beat up with a fork till quite light. Now add to it an ounce of brown sugar, two ounces of well-washed currants, two ounces, ditto ditto raisins, one ounce of candied peel, and a good lump of dripping. Beat up the mixture thoroughly. Sprinkle it thickly on top with brown sugar. Grease a bag thickly, put in the mixture, and bake for forty minutes. Open the bag, slip out gently, dust with sifted sugar and serve.

Thursday.

Chop the cold mutton left over from Wednesday finely. Dust it with pepper, salt, a little powdered sweet herbs, and add to it a large finely chopped onion. Sprinkle the whole well with seasoned flour. Add any cold gravy which may be over from the day before, and a couple of slices of lean flank of bacon and a tablespoonful of Worcester sauce, with the same amount of water. Grease the bag. Put in the mince. Cook gently for half an hour, turn out, and serve with baked potatoes.

A jam roly-poly-pudding will be a nice finish to this dinner. It is too well known to need a recipe.

Friday.

A little fish once a week not only makes a nice change in the monotony of the midday meal, but is often a distinct saving both in health and pocket. Stuffed and baked haddocks are delicious.

Make a stuffing in exactly the same way as described for stuffed breast of mutton. Wash the fish well and cut off the head; then put in the stuffing. Sew up the fish or secure tightly with white cotton. Grease the outside of the fish slightly, this to take the place of the "bits of butter" put on fish when the latter is cooked in the oven in the old way. Grease the bag well. Put in the fish and bake for from 20 to 30 minutes, according to whether two small fish or one large one is used. Slip out gently and serve with baked potatoes.

Dressed macaroni will serve for a pudding.

Take half pound of cooked macaroni. Add to it a little white pepper, from two ounces to four ounces of grated cheese, and a liberal two ounces of nut margarine, which is quite equal to butter in every respect, and contains no animal fat whatever. Grease the bag well with the nut margarine. Mix the macaroni well up with the cheese and nut butter, slip into the bag, and cook in a hot oven for ten minutes. Slip out onto a hot dish and serve at once.

Saturday.

On Saturday the housewife usually has a good deal of cleaning up and mending to do for the morrow, so she will need something which does not require much preparation beforehand.

Liver and bacon, always a highly appreciated dish, will meet the difficulty, and there is no fear of it "catching" in the bag if she should chance to be called away for a minute or two.

Slice one pound of very fresh liver, dip each piece into flour nicely seasoned with salt and pepper. Put a piece of liver on top of each rasher of bacon. Grease the bag slightly. Put in the rashers and liver. Cook for twenty-five minutes. Open the bag, and slip out the meat gently onto a very hot dish. Put boiled potatoes round as a border, and pour the gravy over the meat.

Jam buns are a tremendous saving of trouble when the housewife is very busy on a Saturday. Get half a dozen stale buns. Split them open. Pour a little boiling milk or water over them. Spread thickly with golden syrup. Make very hot in a bag (greased). (Copyright, 1911, by the Sturgis & To be continued.

A BLAZE AT HOUSTON RUNS INTO MILLIONS

Cotton and Lumber Industries Suffer Heavily.

Houston, Tex., Feb. 22.—Twenty-five blocks of the city were destroyed when flames, fanned by gale, which swept in with one of the coldest northers of the winter, swept through the eastern part of Houston. Thousands of persons were made homeless.

The losses were set at above $5,000,000, the greater part of which was confined to the lumber and cotton industries. Forty-five thousand bales of cotton stored in warehouses and compresses were burned. This item alone represented a loss of $2,000,000.

The fire started in a cottage near the Southern Pacific railroad tracks. A roaring wind picked up the flames and hurled them to neighboring cottages. In a flash these ignited. Seizing the sparks, the gale carried them two and three blocks. Within half an hour after the fire broke out a great area of small houses was in flames.

The fire spread rapidly to manufacturing plants that bordered on cottages where hundreds of workingmen lived. The burned area is at least a mile and a half long, and at points a quarter of a mile wide. The burned area embraced long rows of cottages and solid streets of manufacturing plants. It was swept clean by the flames. Nothing was saved.

ABHORRENT TO THE PRESIDENT

Are Ideas Advanced In Roosevelt's Speech.

WOULD DECLINE NOMINATION

Rather Than Stand on a Platform Containing Such a Plank as That Outlined in the Colonel's Utterances on the Initiative and Referendum and the Recall of Judges, the President Would Not Run Again.

Washington, Feb. 22.—At the White House and by Republicans generally in Washington Colonel Roosevelt's speech at Columbus was read with intense interest. The president's political advisers were more deeply concerned over the effect of the radical Roosevelt propaganda on the Republican national platform to be drafted at the Chicago convention than they were over the colonel's personal boom for renomination. The Taft forces feel confident they can renominate the president, but they are alarmed over the concessions they may be obliged to make in the national platform to obtain support from the progressive wing of the party.

All of the ideas advanced by Colonel Roosevelt on the initiative and referendum and especially on the recall of judicial decisions and judges themselves are abhorrent to Mr. Taft. At the White House no comment was made on the colonel's speech, but Mr. Taft's deep concern over the possibility of any of these new-fangled notions creeping into the Republican national platform is well known to his advisers. So deeply does the president feel on the question of the recall of the judiciary that he would decline to accept a renomination for the presidency rather than stand on a platform which contained such a plank.

Now that Colonel Roosevelt's long awaited speech has been delivered, the president's political advisers are confident that the coming campaign is to be one in which the lines between radicalism and conservatism are to be as sharply drawn as they were in the famous 1896 free silver campaign. If President Taft is renominated the Democrats, in the opinion of the president's political advisers, will name either Woodrow Wilson or Champ Clark on a platform containing all of the modern ideas advanced by Roosevelt in his speech in Columbus.

The immediate effect of the Roosevelt speech is to bring every one of the progressive Republicans who have been following Senator La Follette's leadership, into line for Roosevelt. He is admitted the leader of the progressive Republican movement from now on. To the political observers, the colonel seized the colors of the insurgent Republican column as they fell from the hands of La Follette. Some of Senator La Follette's ardent admirers are going around declaring that the colonel had not only kidnapped the La Follette boom, but had made away also with the Wisconsin statesman's platform built up through many years of laborious political toil.

Even the Republican regulars are chuckling over the predicament in which Senator Lodge of Massachusetts finds himself. The senator is one of Colonel Roosevelt's warmest friends and most ardent admirers. But Senator Lodge himself is on record as describing the very propositions advanced by Roosevelt as blows struck at the very heart of the constitution. Senator Lodge was one of the first men in congress to read Roosevelt's printed speech. He sent a page out to get an extra edition of the newspapers and sat during the proceedings of the senate intently reading the colonel's utterances. The senator betrayed his nervousness by swinging his foot backward and forward, a certain index that Mr. Lodge is thinking deeply and rapidly.

Judge Scores Grand Jurors.

Georgetown, Ky., Feb. 22.—Because five members of a grand jury refused to vote to indict several citizens for alleged election frauds, Circuit Judge Stout ordered that none of them ever be allowed to serve again as a juror in Scott county, while he presided. The frauds were alleged to have been committed in the state Democratic primary elections last July.

Suggestive Questions

On the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Press Bible Question Class.

(Copyright 1912 by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)

Feb. 25, 1912.
(Copyright, 1911, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)

The Baptism and Temptation of Jesus. Mark i:9-13; Matt. iv:1-11.

Golden Text—For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succor them that are tempted. Heb. ii:18.

(1.) Verse 9—Why was Jesus baptized by John?

(2.) Repentance was a condition of John's baptism. Did Jesus need to repent? Give your reason.

(3.) Verses 10-11—What were the supernatural attending circumstances in connection with the baptism of Jesus?

(4.) Give your reasons for your opinion as to whether others than Jesus saw, heard or understood the opening heavens, the spirit or the voice.

(5.) Verses 12-13—What "spirit" was it that drove Jesus into the wilderness?

(6.) What or who were the angels that ministered unto Jesus, and what form did their ministry probably take?

(7.) Matt. iv:1—Why was Jesus led into the wilderness to be tempted?

(8.) Why was it necessary or not for Jesus to be tempted?

(9.) Why is it that temptation is a necessary part of God's educational process for all of us?

(10.) How much virtue is there in doing right if there is neither temptation nor opportunity to do wrong? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(11.) Verse 2—Why did Jesus fast all and especially so long a time as forty days?

(12.) If Christians in these days were to fast what would be the probable spiritual results?

(13.) Verse 3—How did the gospel writer learn of the temptation of Jesus and the details in connection therewith?

(14.) To what part of the nature of Jesus did the Devil make his first appeal?

(15.) Why would this first temptation naturally appeal to Jesus with force at this particular time?

(16.) Verse 4—What would have been the moral quality of the act if Jesus had made bread out of stones?

(17.) What did Jesus mean by saying, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God?"

(18.) Verses 5-7—Did Jesus go bodily into the city or in imagination only?

(19.) To what part of the nature of Jesus did the Devil urge this second temptation?

(20.) Can you think of any circumstance in which a man of God will act contrary to God's established laws and expect God to reverse their natural consequences?

(21.) If Jesus had done as the Devil requested, how would that have tempted the Lord God?

(22.) Verses 8-11—What is this third temptation?

(23.) In what way could the Devil have carried out his promise?

(24.) Do Angels always minister to those who resist the temptations of the Devil?

Here's Some Important News for Men Who are Growing Bald.

People who have taken our word for it that PARISIAN SAGE is the real hair grower, beautifier and dandruff cure have never been disappointed. Here's the word of a person who took our word.

"I have been using PARISIAN SAGE about a year. When I began to use it I had only a light "fuzz" on my head. Now I have a good thick growth, and it is growing thicker and longer right along. Many people don't believe it can be done, but I know from my own experience with PARISIAN SAGE that it can; I recommend it in the fullest confidence—Gaines Brown, 708 North Fillmore St. Maryville, Mo.

As to "Straw Ballots."

Someone has asked the Republican why it does not conduct a presidential "straw ballot" on the heels of some of the metropolitan papers who have found that a very easy and cheap method of increasing their circulation. The answer is it is a waste of space.

A "straw ballot" means about as much to the average man, who thinks before he casts his vote, as David did to Goliath. It really has no bearing on the political situation which is never determined until the voters walk to the polls. It is demonstrated by experience and common sense that this form of political publicity is worse than worthless.

The readers of the Republican are as responsive as the usual lot. If the Republican should launch a "straw ballot" it would no doubt receive a few hundred votes. Experience has taught, however, that over eight or nine per cent of our readers would respond. The real sentiment of the county could not be expected unless some artificial stimulus were applied.

People generally would be very laggard if requested to assist a newspaper in settling some hypothetical question which common sense tells us could not be determined in that manner. There could be no motive for conducting a "straw ballot." People who would stop to think would know they were voting for nothing except voted for Bryan.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

REPUBLICAN TOWNSHIP PRIMARY CONVENTION.

The Republicans of Rush County are hereby requested to meet in convention in the several townships on Friday, March 15, 1912 or Saturday, March 16, 1912, for the purpose of selecting delegates and alternates. Delegates to the following conventions: State, congressional, judicial, senatorial and county convention. The delegates selected for the State convention will also act as delegates to the Republican state convention to be held on Tuesday, March 26, 1912, for the purpose of nominating four (4) delegates and four (4) alternates, delegates at large to the Republican National Convention; and for the additional purpose of nominating two electors at large and two contingent electors, said electors to be voted for at the November election, 1912.

The delegates selected for the congressional convention will also act as delegates to the Republican Congressional convention to be held in Indianapolis, Ind., on Thursday, March 28, 1912, at 1:30 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of selecting two (2) delegates and two (2) alternate delegates to the National convention to be held at Chicago, June 18, 1912.

The enthusiastic followers of demagogues rush to the "straw ballots" to express their sentiment. A man who thinks when he votes seldom wastes that much time and a two-cent postage stamp. It is easy to understand why Roosevelt should win a larger number of votes than Taft in such a contest. The Marion Chronicle published the following which is pertinent to this subject:

There has not been a national pre-convention or pre-campaign for years in which straw balloting was prophetic of results or genuinely indicative of public sentiment. Lincoln in 1860, Hayes in 1876, Garfield in 1880, Harrison in 1888 would have been negligible factors in a straw ballot, but all of them were nominated and elected. Blaine and Bryan have been elected over and over again by the straw ballot method, but never did succeed at the polls; indeed these two men, in addition, have the record as crowd-pullers and enthusiasm breeders.

The most complete and apparently conclusive straw ballot ever taken was that conducted by the Cincinnati Enquirer during the campaign of four years ago, and it proved to be grossly misleading. The Enquirer did not trust to the ballots of people with nothing else to do, but play at politics but sent reliable agents into many business blocks, farming communities, etc., regarded as typical, throughout the State polling these completely. The careful personal inquiry thus conducted showed not only the presidential preference of those interviewed but their former political affiliations. The showing made by this careful, systematic and widely extended inquiry was one which seemed conclusively to foreshadow the defeat of Taft for election. The drift was general against him, and to such an extent that anyone who felt faith in such a form of ballot would have been justified in wagering that Taft would be defeated. On the heels of this showing Ohio went heavily for Taft.

There are plenty of people in Rushville right now who have no city water. Yes, it's paid for in advance. That's not the reason. It is because the city hasn't the water to furnish. In the summer the water is scarce and the demand is much greater. Yet the city council has not arranged to increase the supply for next summer although that season is fast approaching. There are any number of people who declare they will pay no water rent in advance until they are assured they will get value received. Well, says a friend of the city administration, they'll turn off your water. What then? A law suit doubtless.

But, cheer up, we may get water by 1915.

Some things are painfully noticeable by their absence. Yesterday Roosevelt broke the long silence by speaking before the Ohio Constitutional convention in Columbus. He never mentioned the tariff question. Why should he when he beat it off with his big stick the seven years he was in the White House?

If the government sleuths will investigate, we believe they will find that some of the dissolved fragments of the Standard Oil Co. have been calling up each other by telephone, and possibly have exchanged letters through the postoffice.

Washington's birthday may be a perfectly safe subject for congressmen, but they must discuss some more recent matters if they hope to quiet old Pro Bono Publico in the country papers.

From the way people are getting all het up over politics, we expect to see one or two hanging around this office the night of November 5 to learn if the people have gone and done it.

One good way for your wife to pay a part of the bill for her new spring gown, is to get a $50 prize for one of these articles on "How to dress on $50 a year."

A presidential lightning rod that remains up for over a year generally shows signs of wear by the time the storm comes along.

It is rumored that there may be a few delegates in the Democratic convention who never asked permission of Mr. Bryan to have seats.

How can they expect to enlarge the circulation of the Congressional Record until they make it the right size to line the bureau drawer with?

After careful reading of the congressional proceedings we fail to see anything about the advocates of a subsidy. Have they subsided?

If the bath tub trust men try for an immunity bath much longer, they will get into hot water.

Editorialettes.

On those blue days, such as yesterday, when you despair of the future of the republic, try washing the office windows and see how much it will help.

That's what we did and the effect is marvelous.

Rush county had a suicide, a disastrous fire and was snowbound, all on the same day. Little slow, please, this is too much excitement for us all at one time.

Why expect people to devote much time to the study of literature when a new telephone directory which must be read from cover to cover is about to be distributed.

When a very rich man marries a poor girl that's romance. When a very rich girl marries a poor man, that's fiction—and luck.

SOCIETY NEWS

The Friday Afternoon Bible class will meet with Mrs. George Looney in North Main street. The lesson is "The I am of Christ, In John."

* * *

Miss Gladys Kidwell of Elwood, district inspector of the Tri Kappa sorority, will be here Friday night to inspect the Rushville chapter of Tri Kappa. A meeting will be called and the inspection will resolve into a social event of some prominence.

The dinner dance at the Social club house last night was one of the most enjoyable ones held there for some time. A several course dinner was served at six-thirty o'clock. Music was furnished by Indianapolis players. Among the visiting guests were Mrs. Sarah Henley of Chicago, Mrs. W. C. Keetznring of Defiance, Ohio, and Miss Mabelle Sharp of Sharpsville, Ky.

The wedding of Miss Mary Alice Krammes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Krammes and Ornie Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Gardner of Manilla, was solemnized at the Krammes home west of the city Wednesday evening, the Rev. A. R. Jones, pastor of the M. E. church at Arlington, officiating. Following the ceremony a two-course luncheon was served. While the wedding scene was very pretty and impressive its beauty was somewhat marred by the absence of music, Mrs. Will Meredith, who was to have furnished this, having been detained in Indianapolis by the storm until too late to reach the home. Several other invited guests were also kept away by the storm. Among those from a distance were Byron Nichols and the Misses Frances Marphy, Toledo, Lemmon and Vella Riebsomer of Connersville. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Rev. Andrew Louden, a pioneer Methodist preacher of Rush county, and a young woman of high standing in her home neighborhood. The bridegroom is a prosperous young farmer of Walker township. They will be at home after March 1 on a farm north of Homer.

COURT AFFECTED BY SNOWBOUND TRAINS

Nothing Doing Until Afternoon When Case of Alvan Moor Against City is Heard.

HE WANTS TO COLLECT $450

The court was affected today by the snowbound trains. The daily grind was not started until the afternoon, Judge Blair not arriving here from Shelbyville until 11:30 o'clock. Argument was heard in the case of Alvan Moor against the city of Rushville to collect $450 for collecting city taxes while he was county treasurer.

The county treasurers are compelled to collect the city taxes, that construction of the law having been fixed by the courts. But the city maintains the law does not say the county treasurer shall have $300 annually for collecting city taxes. It appeared from the argument this afternoon that the decision depended on the statute, which seems to be rather awkward. Watson, Titworth & Green represented the former treasurer, and Howard Barrett, the city.

FLOATED.

Ed Olsen was fined one dollar and costs this morning by Mayor Black for public intoxication. On a promise to leave the city his fine was oated. He was arrested last night by Chief McAllister in West Second street.

"ALKALI IKE'S" IN AGAIN

Columbus Republican: Henry Perfield, who is also known here as "Alkali Ike" and who was released from jail here Tuesday morning, was arrested Tuesday night, at Hope, where he spent the night in the calaboose, but he was released this morning. He is said to have been intoxicated.

DUMPED IN SNOW DRIFT.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gosnell were driving from their home in Washington township Wednesday when the young horse they were driving dumped them out in a snow drift by overturning the buggy. Owing to the great depth of the snow the animal fell and was not able to get up thus preventing serious results.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess will show the usual two reels of pictures tonight. "The Mountain Law" is an Essanay picture telling a thrilling story of moonshining in Kentucky. One other picture will be on the program. Tomorrow the feature Vitagraph entitled "The Military Air Scout" will be shown. It is a thrilling picture showing the destruction of a fleet from an airship.

The Palace will show a Powers film "Imaginative Billy" as the first picture tonight. It is said to be a good comedy. The other is a Bison, "The Missionary's Gratitude." "She," the Thanouser feature in two reels last night proved to be a fine picture and pleased large crowds despite the bad weather. The management announces that the picture will be brought back in the near future for the benefit of those who were unfortunate in not seeing it.

be shown tonight. VanCamp and Mrs. Houck will sing the duet which was to have been given last night. Tomorrow and Saturday night "Vanity Fair," a three reel Vitagraph film will be the attraction. The story of "Vanity Fair" is told in complete detail by the pictures and is said to be a wonderful production.

Ralph Herz in "Dr. De Lux," the big Jos. M. Gaites musical comedy production, will be the attraction at English's opera house, Indianapolis, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, February 26, 27, and 28, with a Wednesday matinee. "Dr. De Lux" is a musical comedy of unusual merit, full of bright lines, beautiful music and pretty girls. It comes to Indianapolis with the original cast and production, having enjoyed long runs in Chicago and New York. It is an entertainment that will be enjoyed by all ages and classes, for, though the music and performance is of the highest class, it has a unique lit and cleverness which is delightful. It is not often that the music as well as the fun lovers have an opportunity to see such a delightful performance and such an excellent and well balanced company. The seat sale will be heavy for this splendid attraction and it will be well to get mail orders in as early as possible.

with mirrors, thick enough to withstand any onslaught of the victim, who was flung into the chamber empty-handed and barefoot.

There was no furniture. The ceiling was capable of being lit up. An ingenious system of electric heating, which has since been imitated, allowed the temperature of the walls and room to be increased at will.

I am giving all these details of a perfectly natural invention, producing, with a few painted branches, the supernatural illusion of an equatorial forest blazing under the tropical sun, so that no one may doubt the present balance of my brain or feel entitled to say that I am mad or lying or that I take him for a fool.

I now return to the facts where I left them. When the ceiling lit up and the forest became visible around us, the viscount's stupefaction was immense. That impenetrable forest, with its innumerable trunks and branches, threw him into a terrible state of consternation. He passed his hands over his forehead, as though to drive away a dream; his eyes blinked; and, for a moment, he forgot to listen.

I have already said that the sight of the forest did not surprise me at all; and therefore I listened for the two of us to what was happening next door. Lastly, my attention was especially attracted, not so much to the scene, as to the mirrors that produced it. These mirrors were broken in parts. Yes, they were marked and scratched; they had been "starred," in spite of their solidity; and this proved to me that the torture-chamber in which we now were had already served a purpose.

Yes, some wretch, whose feet were not bare like those of the victims of the rosy hours of Mazenderan, had certainly fallen into this "mortal illusion" and, mad with rage, had kicked against those mirrors which, nevertheless, continued to reflect his agony. And the branch of the tree on which he had put an end to his own sufferings was arranged in such a way that, before dying, he had seen, for his last consolation, a thousand men writhing in his company.

Yes, Joseph Buquet had undoubtedly been through all this! Were we

Eczema is Spread by Scratching—
Intolerable Suffering.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

Often an eczema-tortured baby scratches and tears at his itching face until it becomes one mass of sores and the suffering is frightful.

Instead of tying the little one's hands, as some do, merely cover the itching skin with a protecting, soothing application of our new skin remedy, Saxon Salve.

This allays the itching at once, gives the child comfort and allows it to get the needed rest and sleep. More than that, it penetrates the pores of the skin, reaching the very roots of the disease with its germ-destroying, healing power and soon banishes the eruption, leaving the skin smooth and unscarred.

We sell Saxon Salve on a positive guarantee for all sorts of skin diseases. If it does not give satisfaction you get your money back. Try it. F. B. Johnson & Co., druggists, Rushville, Ind.

to die as he had done? I did not think so, for I knew that we had a few hours before us and that I could employ them to better purpose than Joseph Buquet was able to do. After all, I was thoroughly acquainted with most of Erik's "tricks"; and now or never was the time to turn my knowledge to account.

To begin with, I gave up every idea of returning to the passage that had brought us to that accursed chamber. I did not trouble about the possibility of working the inside stone that closed the passage; and this for the simple reason that to do so was out of the question. We had dropped from too great a height into the torture-chamber; there was no furniture to help us reach that passage; not even the branch of the iron tree, not even each other's shoulders were of any avail.

To begin with, I gave up every idea of returning to the passage that had brought us to that accursed chamber. I did not trouble about the possibility of working the inside stone that closed the passage; and this for the simple reason that to do so was out of the question. We had dropped from too great a height into the torture-chamber; there was no furniture to help us reach that passage; not even the branch of the iron tree, not even each other's shoulders were of any avail.

There was only one possible outlet, that opening into the Louis-Philippe room in which Erik and Christine Daae were. But, though this outlet looked like an ordinary door on Christine's side, it was absolutely invisible to us. We must therefore try to open it without even knowing where it was.

When I was quite sure that there was no hope for us from Christine Daae's side, when I had heard the monster dragging the poor girl from the Louis-Philippe room lest she should interfere with our tortures, I resolved to set to work without delay.

But I had first to calm M. de Chagny, who was already walking about like a madman, uttering incoherent cries. The snatches of conversation which he had caught between Christine and the monster had contributed not a little to drive him beside himself; add to that the shock of the magic forest and the scorching heat which was beginning to make the perspiration stream down his temples and you will have no difficulty in understanding his state of mind. He shouted Christine's name, brandished his pistol, knocked his forehead against the glass in his endeavors to run down the glades of the illusive forest. In short, the torture was beginning to work its spell upon a brain unprepared for it.

I did my best to induce the poor viscount to listen to reason. I made him touch the mirrors and the iron tree and the branches and explained to him, by optical laws, the luminous imagery by which we were surrounded and of which we need not allow ourselves to be the victims, like ordinary, ignorant people.

"We are in a room, a little room; that is what you must keep saying to yourself. And we shall leave the room as soon as we have found the door."

And I promised him that, if he let me act, without disturbing me by shouting and walking up and down, I would discover the trick of the door in less than an hour's time.

Then he lay flat on the floor, as one does in a wood, and declared that he would wait until I found the door of the forest, as there was nothing better to do! And he added that, from where he was, "the view was splendid!" The torture was working, in spite of all that I had said.

Myself, forgetting the forest, I tackled a glass panel and began to finger it in every direction, hunting for the weak point on which to press in order to turn the door in accordance with Erik's system of pivots. This weak point might be a mere speck on the glass, no larger than a pea, under which the spring lay hidden. I hunted and hunted. I felt as high as my hands could reach. Erik was about the same height as myself and I thought that he would not have placed the spring higher than suited his stature.

While groping over the successive panels with the greatest care, I endeavored not to lose a minute, for I was feeling more and more overcome with the heat and we were literally roasting in that blazing forest.

I had been working like this for half an hour and had finished three panels, when, as ill-luck would have it, I turned round on hearing a muffled exclamation from the viscount.

"I am stifling," he said. "All those mirrors are sending out an infernal heat! Do you think you will find that spring soon? If you are much longer about it, we shall be roasted alive!"

I was not sorry to hear him talk like this. He had not said a word of the forest and I hoped that my companion's reason would hold out some time longer against the torture. But he added:

"What consoles me is that the monster has given Christine until eleven tomorrow evening. If we can't get out of here and go to her assistance, at least we shall be dead before her! Then Erik's mass can serve for all of us!"

And he gulped down a breath of hot air that nearly made him faint.

As I had not the same desperate reasons as M. le Vicomte for accepting death, I returned, after giving him a word of encouragement, to my panel, but I had made the mistake of taking a few steps while speaking and, in the tangle of the illusive forest, I was no longer able to find my panel for certain! I had to begin all over again, at random, feeling, fumbling, groping.

When I was quite sure that there was no hope for us from Christine Daae's side, when I had heard the monster dragging the poor girl from the Louis-Philippe room lest she should interfere with our tortures, I resolved to set to work without delay.

But I had first to calm M. de Chagny, who was already walking about like a madman, uttering incoherent cries. The snatches of conversation which he had caught between Christine and the monster had contributed not a little to drive him beside himself; add to that the shock of the magic forest and the scorching heat which was beginning to make the perspiration stream down his temples and you will have no difficulty in understanding his state of mind. He shouted Christine's name, brandished his pistol, knocked his forehead against the glass in his endeavors to run down the glades of the illusive forest. In short, the torture was beginning to work its spell upon a brain unprepared for it.

M. de Chagny and I had repeatedly taken off our coats and put them on again, finding at one time that they made us feel still hotter and at another that they protected us against the heat. I was still making a moral resistance, but M. de Chagny seemed to me quite "gone." He pretended that he had been walking in that forest for three days and nights, without stopping, looking for Christine Daae! From time to time, he thought he saw her behind the trunk of a tree, or gliding between the branches; and he called to her with words of supplication that brought the tears to my eyes. And then, at last:

"Oh, how thirsty I am!" he cried, in delirious accents.

I too was thirsty. My throat was on fire. And, yet, squatting on the floor, I went on hunting, hunting, hunting for the spring of the invisible door . . . especially as it was dangerous to remain in the forest as evening drew nigh. Already the shades of night were beginning to surround us. It had happened very quickly; night falls quickly in tropical countries . . . suddenly, with hardly any twilight.

Now night, in the forests of the equator, is always dangerous, particularly when, like ourselves, one has not the materials for a fire to keep off the beasts of prey. I did indeed try for a moment to break off the branches, which I would have lit with my dark lantern, but I knocked myself also against the mirrors and remembered, in time, that we had only images of branches to do with.

The heat did not go with the daylight; on the contrary, it was now still hotter under the blue rays of the moon. I urged the viscount to hold our weapons ready to fire and not to stray from camp, while I went on looking for my spring.

Suddenly, we heard a lion roaring a few yards away.

"Oh," whispered the viscount, "he is quite close! . . . Don't you see him? . . . There . . . through the trees . . . in that thicket! . . . If he roars again, I will fire!"

And the roaring began again, louder than before. And the viscount fired, but I do not think that he hit the lion; only, he smashed a mirror, as I perceived the next morning, at daybreak. We must have covered a good distance during the night, for we suddenly found ourselves on the edge of the desert, an immense desert of sand, stones and rocks. It was really not worth while leaving the forest to come upon the desert. Tired out, I flung myself down beside the viscount, for I had had enough of looking for springs which I could not find.

I was quite surprised—and I said so to the viscount—that we had encountered no other dangerous animals during the night. Usually, after the lion came the leopard and sometimes the buzz of the tsetse fly. These were easily obtained effects; and I explained to M. de Chagny that Erik imitated the roar of a lion on a long tabour or timbrel, with an ass's skin at one end. Over this skin he tied a string of catgut, which was fastened at the middle to another similar string passing through the whole length of the tabour. Erik had only to rub this string with a glove smeared with resin and, according to the manner in which he rubbed it, he imitated to perfection the voice of the lion or the leopard, or even the buzzing of the tsetse fly.

ROSALSKY ERRED IN BRANDT CASE

Justice Gerard Sustains Writ of Habeas Corpus.

NOTABLE FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

Young New Yorker Alleged to Have Been the Victim of a Conspiracy to Railroad Him to Prison for a Long Term of Years Has Had His Status Restored and Will Face Court on a New Footing.

New York, Feb. 22.—The writ of habeas corpus in the case of Folke E. Brandt has been sustained by Justice Gerard, who has ordered a new trial for Brandt on the ground that Judge Rosalsky erred in accepting Brandt's plea of guilty of burglary in the first degree when the man's statement to the court showed that he did not intend to plead guilty to that crime.

Out of courtesy to Governor Dix, Justice Gerard waited until 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon before handing down the decision. No word having come from the governor up to that time that Brandt had been pardoned or that a pardon would be issued shortly, the justice felt constrained to act himself. He learned that Attorney General Carmody's arguments had failed to move the governor and that there would be delay whichever way the governor decided.

However, the decision of Justice Gerard was not filed and will not be today, since this is a legal holiday. Therefore the order remanding Brandt for a new trial and establishing his status as a man indicted but not actually convicted is not yet on record. Provided, therefore, that the governor concludes to free Brandt, he can do so without any question arising as to his constitutional right to pardon a man who is not legally a convict. The constitution says that the governor can pardon or commute a sentence "after conviction."

Brandt, who is now in the Tombs, may be released on bail tomorrow. An application will be made to Justice Gerard asking that the justice fix bail for Brandt and order his release. When the young Swede was arraigned back in March, 1907, on Mortimer L. Schiff's complaint that he had committed burglary and assault, Charles S. Whitman, then a magistrate, held him in bonds of $5,000, $2,500 on each charge. It has been indicated that District Attorney Whitman will not press for heavy bail now. He may accept a small figure or consent that Brandt be released in custody of his counsel. The district attorney does not seem to think that Brandt will hurry back to Sweden to go into business. He needs Brandt in the conspiracy inquiry.

PEOPLE DON'T KNOW

Colombian Government Is Keeping Ospina-Knox Incident Quiet.

Bogota, Colombia, Feb. 22.—The action of General Ospina, Colombian minister to the United States, in notifying the state department at Washington that the visit to Colombia of Secretary of State Knox would be inopportune, owing to the fact that Colombia's claims in connection with Panama had not yet been arbitrated, has not become known to the general public.

The Colombian government has the matter under consideration, but either the newspapers are ignorant of the occurrence or else comment has been suppressed by the authorities. A strong sentiment for an honorable settlement of the Panama affair has been gaining ground all over the country without regard to the differences of views of the political parties.

Investigation May Be Ordered.

Washington, Feb. 22.—A concurrent resolution has been introduced by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, directing the committee on foreign relations to ascertain and report the facts relative to the claim of Colombia against the United States growing out of the acquisition of the canal zone. He also desired all the correspondence referring to the offer of Colombia to submit the matter to arbitration.

Jumped Track at Trestle.

Moscow, Tenn., Feb. 22.—Dr. E. L. Morris of Moscow, was fatally injured and several passengers hurt when the Memphis and Somerville accommodation train on the Southern railway jumped the track at a trestle near here. The engine, baggage car and one coach tumbled down the embankment.

Held on Forgery Charge.

Peru, Ind., Feb. 22.—The police have arrested Leonard Brokay of Fort Wayne, on the charge of forgery. He is accused of presenting bogus checks at some of the banks here. It is also said that the same man has been operating in many other cities, including Seymour, Columbus, Elkhart and Goos.

TRAMP'S CASE TO BE TAKEN HIGHER

Lafayette Agitated Over This Unusual Procedure.

A QUESTION OF PUNISHMENT

Has a City the Right to Cause an Offender to Be Chained to a Post in the Public Square and Exposed to Jibes and Jeers of the Thoughtless? —Sheriff Resists the Action of the City.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 22.—A controversy between the city and county of officials that may be taken to the courts for settlement has arisen over the case of James O'Connell, a tramp who has been chained to a post on the courthouse square for several days as a punishment for his refusal to work with the city chain gang. Sheriff John Fisher announced that he did not sanction the punishment of the prisoner, and did not believe the city had a right to do it. The city requested the sheriff to feed O'Connell on bread and water. He did this for two days, but now is giving regular meals to O'Connell.

Sheriff Fisher has employed attorneys and it is said O'Connell's case will form a basis for extensive litigation to determine whether the city has a right to punish its prisoners for failure to work. O'Connell was not chained yesterday on account of the blizzard; but the day before a crowd of several hundred people surrounded him throughout the afternoon, and a number gave him money. One man placed an overcoat on the prisoner. The case is causing much comment.

NOTABLE MEETING

General Chapter Order of Holy Cross to Convene at Notre Dame.

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 22.—The general chapter of the Order of the Holy Cross, which usually convenes in France every six years, will meet this year at the University of Notre Dame. The chapter, which is a council of representatives of the order in Europe, Asia, Canada and the United States, assembles once in six years to pass general legislation to govern all the members and to make such changes in the constitution and rules as may be found advisable. The findings of the chapter and the rules passed by it go into effect only after they have been sanctioned by the pope.

The chapter will be presided over by the Very Rev. Gilbert Francois, C. S. C., the superior general of the order. The sessions will last a week. Important legislation will be passed because of the altered condition of the order's interest in France, due to the expulsion of religious communities in that country.

Preston Is Officially Dead.

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 22.—William Preston, civil war veteran, has been declared legally dead by Judge Ellis. For forty years relatives believed he had been killed in the civil war, but ten years ago he appeared in Delaware county. He disappeared again and has not been heard from. He was an heir to an estate here that could not be settled without his presence or court decree of death.

Increased His Sentence.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Feb. 22.—Harry Robinson, colored, who on Dec. 26 struck C. R. Catlin, a guard at the Indiana reformatory, a blow on the head with an iron pipe, was found guilty by a circuit court jury and was sentenced two to fourteen years in the reformatory. He already has served four years of a maximum of eight imposed at Peru for petit larceny.

Strangled Wife's Sister.

Gary, Ind., Feb. 22.—The Rev. William Steele, pastor of the Nineteenth Avenue colored Baptist church, confessed the murder of his wife's sister, Harriet Thompson, eighteen years old, also colored, whom he strangled to death in the parlor of her home. Steele says that during a quarrel the girl struck him with a poker, and he retaliated by choking her.

He Didn't Resist.

Columbus, Ind., Feb. 22.—Barr Mead, the man for whom a posse had been searching for twenty-four hours, was captured about three miles from Hope. He offered no resistance, seeing the men heavily armed, and will be taken back to the reformatory at Jeffersonville at once. He is charged with violating his parole.

To Declare War on Rats.

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 22.—Bloomington wants a "rat-killing day" and Mayor Harris has been asked to issue a proclamation designating three days next week as an official time for the slaughter of the rodents. Business men claim that the pests are doing great damage to their stores.

Court Company Will Appeal.

Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 22.—Judge Bedford of the circuit court overruled the motion to quash the affidavits against the Monon Coal company, charging that the company failed to maintain washhouses. He also held the law unconstitutional. The coal company will appeal to the supreme court.

COURT AFFIRMED

Appellate Court Upholds Rush County Jury in Tyner vs. Southern Indiana Gas Co. Suit.

PLAINTIFF GOT $4,200 HERE

Higher Court Lay Greenfield Explosion Was Due to Negligence of

The Defendant.

The Indiana appellate court yesterday affirmed a decision returned in the Rush circuit court three years ago in the case of Tyner against the Southern Indiana Gas Company. A jury in this court gave Tyner $4,200 damages for injuries he received in an explosion in a Greenfield motion picture theater. The case was sent here from Hancock county on a change of venue. Judge Will M. Sparks was on the bench at that time.

The case will be remembered here as it attracted much attention. Tyner suffered two breaks in his leg as the result of the explosion in the theater and was left a cripple. It was shown by testimony here that the explosion was due to defective gas pipes of the defendant in the theater.

In this regard the appellate court decision says:

"A gas company which connects its mains with the gas pipes of a building under such circumstances that it should have known the pipes in the building were defective and leaky, and knowing the building was to be used as a moving picture theater frequented by the public, is responsible to a patron of the show who was injured by an explosion caused by a boy throwing a lighted match through a grating and exploding the leaked gas which was confined under the floor of the building."

The higher court holds that "It is negligence on the part of the gas company to furnish or permit its gas to flow into the pipes of a building when it knows that such pipes leak, or when it is chargeable with such knowledge. The knowledge of an employee sent out to install or to seek defects is the knowledge of the gas company."

It was a part of the defense of the gas company that the corporation had no knowledge of the leaking gas but it was shown that one of its employees did.

In conclusion the verdict says:

"A judgment for $4,200 for injuries consisting of two breaks of a leg, permanently shortening it and causing some trouble in its use and continued pain for an indeterminate period, the man being 27 and earning $9.50 per week, is not excessive."

A lot of legal talent was employed in this case and it was one of the hardest fought suits ever in the local court. McCollough & Wellbourne of Greenfield and Smith, Camborn & Smith of this city represented Tyner, and Douglas Morris of this city, Walter Ball of Munroe, Noe Bell of Indianapolis and E. F. Walsh of Hartford City were attorneys for the gas company and owners of the theater.

On account of the bad weather Claude Walker has postponed his sale until Tuesday, Feb. 27 and it will be held in Davis Bros. Barn. The cattle will be on exhibition at the Davis Bros. barn on Sunday, Feb. 25. Visitors welcome.

THOMAS E. BALL EXPIRES

Oldest Resident of Lewisville is Victim of Paralysis.

Thomas E. Ball, aged eighty-four years the oldest resident of Lewisville who has lived there since he was eighteen years old, coming from Tennessee, where he was born, died at his home there yesterday after suffering with paralysis since Christmas. He is survived by his wife and two children, Elmer Ball of Cambridge City and Mrs. E. P. Johnson, who lives at home. Mr. Ball had been a very prominent man in that part of the county and had been one of the most respected men of Lewisville. He was a member of the Lewisville M. E. church and had served as trustee of the church for years. The funeral will be held at the church Friday afternoon at two o'clock and will be in charge of the Rev. Chester Smith of Anderson.

On account of the bad weather Claude Walker has postponed his sale until Tuesday, Feb. 27 and it will be held in Davis Bros. Barn. The cattle will be on exhibition at the Davis Bros. barn on Sunday, Feb. 25. Visitors welcome.
